To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is my personal recommendation for Christopher Mackey. Until January of 2009, I had been Chris's immediate supervisor since he joined Card Player Media in May 2005.

I found Chris to be a professional whose strong technical design background, attention to detail and project management skills benefited our organization.

Chris's hard work and dedication to his position allowed him to move up our company ranks from graphic designer to production manager. He managed important printer and client relationships and helped improve the overall quality of our magazine products. He also helped improve our processes so, as an organization; we could save both time and money.

Chris was also extraordinarily helpful in other areas of the company. In addition to his production management responsibilities, Chris assumed a leadership role in designing new advertising campaigns for Card Player Media products and developing marketing collateral for our many clients.

I highly recommend Chris for employment, as he would make a great asset to any organization.

Sincerely,

Justin Marchand
